ATLANTA – Planning for emergencies, specifically health-related emergencies, requires much preparation and forethought due to the potential for impacts to staff, supply chain and support services. With that in mind, NERC has taken on a number of initiatives to inform stakeholders and protect the health of its workforce regarding the novel coronavirus known as COVID-19. This is a rapidly developing situation, and NERC is balancing concerns for the health and welfare of its own workforce and the many stakeholders they interact with while staying focused on its mission to assure the reliability and security of the bulk power system across North America.
